Venue: SBPIM Campus.

"The best way to change the society and the underlying issues is to channelize the power of woman in every walk of life."

International Women's Day is celebrated worldwide on the March 8. The day celebrates womanhood and recognizes their achievements. It emphasizes the importance of gender equality. People from all across the world come together to on this day to take part in the celebration of womanhood. The day is being increasingly associated with feminism and equal rights for women.

While women have been speaking about their rights and the need for gender equality for ages now men too have had opined on women. Sometimes they have been unkind while on other times they have been very understanding.

At S. B. Patil Institute of Management, in the Academic year 2017 – 18, we thought of taking the celebration of Women's Day to the next level by felicitating and appreciating the three women from the society. We invited three gracious, beautiful and powerful ladies from the different fields of the society. We were grateful to have Ms Amruta Desai an industrialist, Ms Sushma Chavan Assistant Commissioner of Police and Dr Sonal Bondre gynecologist on the International Women's Day.

The day started with a welcome quote by Prof Aishwarya Gopalkrishnan. All the guest, teaching and non teaching staff and the students were welcomed by the welcome address of Dr Daniel Penkar, Director SBPIM. The guest were felicitated and appreciated by Dr Penkar.

Dr Swapnali Kulkarni introduced Ms Amruta Desai, who shared her journey as an industrialist from the shop floor the Director's cabin. She assured all the girl students that if they work hard sky is the limit to them.

Prof Aishwarya introduced ACP Sushma Chavan, who told us about her problems faced in the police force. She also recollected her incidences as the only lady working with the police then. She said because of her determination and strong will she was successful in her career.

Prof Anuradha Phadnis introduced Dr Sonal Bondre. Dr Sonal shared about the hazards of eating habits of the new generation and the consequences faced by them. She appealed all the girl students to eat and drink healthy and to exercise daily.

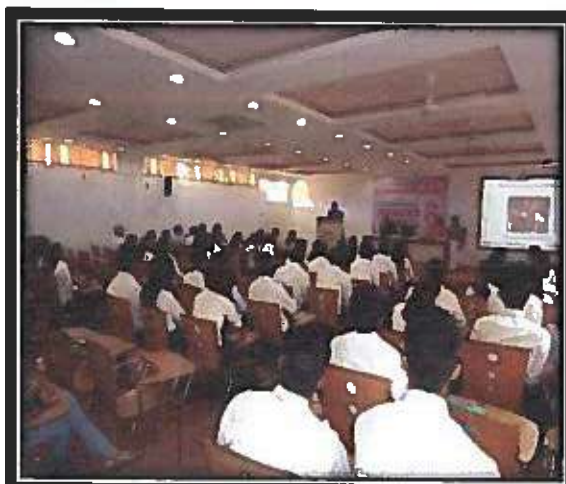

The event was completed by the vote of thanks proposed by Prof Anuradha Phadnis.
