January 2016 to address the students on the topic “Expectation of Corporates from Management Graduates”.

Sir firstly discussed that when a student comes from a top institute he carries a premium tag with him, but that does not mean that he/she will carry the best practical knowledge. He also mentioned some statistics from the Skill Gap survey conducted by the higher education forum, where he showed employer expectation rating and performance assessment of newly hired MBAs measured by attitude, skill and also by knowledge.

Sir also enlisted some of the behavioral and functional competencies that are expected from a management graduate. In his conclusion he said that the candidates are hired for their attitude and can be trained for skills.
